We reserve the right to change the privacy practices described in this notice in the event that the practices need to be changed to follow the law. We will make the new notice provisions effective for all the protected health information that we maintain. If we change our privacy practices, we will have them available upon request. This notice will also be posted on our website and at the location of service.

What is Protected Health Information?

"Protected Health Information" is information that individually identifies you and that we create or get from you or from another health care provider, health plan, your employer, or a health care clearinghouse and that relates to (1) your past, present, or future physical or mental health or conditions, (2) the provision of health care to you, or (3) the past, present, or future payment for your health care.

How Women's Care of Wisconsin May Use or Disclose Your Health Information

The following categories describe the ways that Women's Care of Wisconsin may use and disclose your health information without your written consent. For each type of use and disclosure, we will explain what we mean and present some examples.

Treatment. We may use or disclose your protected health information to provide treatment to you. For example, a doctor may use the information in your medical record to determine which treatment option, such as a drug or surgery, best addresses your health needs. The treatment selected will be documented in your medical record, so that other health care professionals can make informed decisions about your care. Your medical record may be a combination of a paper medical record and an electronic medical record.

Payment. We may use or disclose your health care information to obtain payment for your health care services. For example, we may use your information to send a bill for your health care services to your insurer. You may be contact by mail or telephone at any telephone number associated with you, including wireless numbers. Telephone calls may me made using pre-recorded or artificial voice messages and/or an automatic dialing device (an “auto dialer”). Messages may be left on answering machines or voicemail, including such message information required by law (including debt collection laws) and/or regarding amounts owed by you. Text messages or emails using any email addresses you provide may also be used in order to contact you.

Health Care Operations. We may use or disclose your health care information for activities relating to the evaluation of patient care, evaluating the performance of health care providers, business planning and compliance with the law. For example, we may use your information to determine the quality of care you received when you had your surgery. If the activities require disclosure outside of our health care organization, we will request your authorization before disclosing that information.

Appointment reminders. We may use your protected health information for appointment reminders. For example, we may look at your health information to determine the date and time of your next appointment with us, and then send you a written or phone call reminder to help you remember the appointment.

For Minors. We may disclose the Protected Health Information of minor children to their parents or guardians unless such disclose is otherwise prohibited by law.

Required by Law. Sometimes we must report some of your protected health information to legal authorities, such as law enforcement officials in response to a court order, court officials, or government agencies. For example, we may have to report abuse, neglect, domestic violence or certain physical injuries, or to respond to a court order. We may also disclose your protected health information in the course of an administrative or judicial proceeding in response to a court order.

To Avert a Serious Threat to Health of Safety. We may disclose your health information in a very limited manner to appropriate persons to prevent a serious threat to the health or safety of a particular person or the general public. Disclosure is usually limited to law enforcement personnel who are involved in protecting the public safety.

For Business Associates. We may disclose Protected Health Information to our business associates who preform functions on our behalf or provide us with services if the Protected Health Information is necessary for those functions or services. For example, we may use another company to do our billing, or to provide transcription or consulting services for us. All our business associates are obligated, under contract with us, to protect the privacy and ensure the security of your Protected Health Information.

Public Health. We may release your health information to local, state or federal public health agencies subject to the provisions of applicable state and federal law for reporting communicable diseases, aiding in the prevention or control of certain diseases and reporting problems with products and reactions to medications to the Food and Drug Administration.

Victims of Abuse, Neglect or Violence. We may disclose your information to a government authority authorized by law to receive reports of abuse, neglect, or violence relating to children or the elderly.

Health Oversight Activities. We may disclose your health information to health agencies authorized by law to conduct audits, investigations, inspections, licensure and other proceedings related to oversight of the health care system.

If you are involved with the military, national security or intelligence activities, or you are in the custody of law enforcement officials or an inmate in a correctional institution, we may disclose your protected health information to the proper authorities so they may carry out their duties under the law.

Workers' Compensation. Both state and federal law allow the disclosure of your health care information that is reasonably related to a worker's compensation injury to be disclosed without your authorization. These programs may provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness.

For Data Breach Notification Purposes. We may use or disclose Protected Health Information to provide legally required notices of unauthorized accessor disclosure of your health information.

Judicial and Administrative Proceedings. We may disclose your health information in the course of an administrative or judicial proceeding in response to a court order. Under most circumstances when the request is made through a subpoena, a discovery request or involves another type of administrative order which must meet conditions for disclosure.

Law Enforcement. We may disclose your health information to a law enforcement official for purposes such as identifying or locating a suspect, fugitive, or missing person, or complying with a court order or other law enforcement purposes. Under some limited circumstances we will request your authorization prior to permitting disclosure.

Coroners and Medical Examiners. We may disclose your health information to coroners and medical examiners. For example, this may be necessary to determine the cause of death.

Specialized Government Functions. Under certain and very limited circumstances, we may disclose your health care information for military, national security, or law enforcement custodial situations.

Shared Medical Record/Health Information Exchange. We participate in arrangements of health care organization, which have agreed to work with each other, to facilitate access to protected health information that may be relevant to your care. For example, if you are admitted to a hospital on an emergency basis and cannot provide important information about your health condition, these arrangements will allow us to make your protected health information from other participants available to those who need it to treat you at the hospital. When it is needed, ready access to your protected health information means better care for you. We store protected health information about our patients in a joint electronic medical record with other health care providers who participate in the arrangement. Each participant in the shared electronic medical record has implemented policies and procedures governing appropriate access to protected health information in the shared electronic medical record in accordance with state and federal law.

Uses and Disclosures that Require us to Give You an Opportunity to Object

For Individuals Involved in Your Care or Payment for Your Care. Unless you object, we may disclose to a member of your family, a relative, a close friend or any other person you identify, your Protected Health Information that directly relates to that person's involvement in your health care. If you are unable to agree or object to such a disclosure, we may disclose such information as necessary if we determine that it is in your best interest based on our professional judgement.

For Disaster Relief. We may disclose your Protected Health Information to disaster relief organizations that seek your protected Health Information to coordinate your care, or notify family and friends of your location or condition in a disaster. We will provide you an opportunity to agree or object to such a disclosure whenever we can practicably do so.

When Women's Care of Wisconsin is Required to Obtain an Authorization to Use or Disclose Your Health Information

Except as described in this Notice of Privacy Practices, we will not use or disclose your health information without written authorization from you. For example, uses and disclosures made for the purpose of psychotherapy, marketing and the sale of protected health information require your authorization. If your provider intends to engage in fundraising, you have the right to opt out of receiving such communications. If you do authorize us to use or disclose your health information for another purpose, you may revoke your authorization in writing at any time. If you revoke your authorization, we will no longer be able to use or disclose health information about you for the reasons covered by your written authorization, though we will be unable to take back any disclosures we have already made with your permission.

Your Health Information Rights

You have the following rights, subject to certain limitations, regarding your Protected Health Information:

Inspect and Copy Your Health Information. You have the right to inspect and obtain a copy of your health care information. You have the right to request that the copy be provided in an electronic form or format (e.g., PDF, electronically through MyChart). We have up to 30 days to make your Protected Health Information available to you. If the form and format are not readily producible, then the organization will work with you to provide it in a reasonable electronic form or format. For example, you may request a copy of your immunization record from your health care provider. This right of access does not apply to psychotherapy notes, which are maintained for the personal use of a mental health professional. Your request for inspection or access must be submitted in writing to Women's Care Medical Records 3232 N Ballard Rd Suite 100, Appleton WI 54911. In addition, we may charge you a reasonable fee to cover our expenses for copying your health information. We may not charge you a fee if you need the information for a claim for benefits under the Social Security Act or any other state or federal needs-based benefit program.

Request to Correct Your Health Information. You have a right to request that Women's Care of Wisconsin amend your health information that you believe is incorrect or incomplete. For example, if you believe the date of your surgery is incorrect; you may request that the information be corrected. We are not required to change your health information and if your request is denied, we will provide you with information about our denial and how you can disagree with the denial. To request an amendment, you must make your request in writing to Women's Care of Wisconsin Attn: Privacy Officer, 3232 N Ballard Rd Suite 100, Appleton WI 54911. You must also provide a reason for your request. However, if we did not create the health information you believe is incorrect we may deny your request.

Request Restrictions on Certain Uses and Disclosures. You have the right to request restrictions on how your health information is used or to whom your information is disclosed, even if the restriction affects your treatment or our payment or health care operation activities. For example, if you are an employee in a clinic and you receive health care services in that clinic, you may request that your medical record not be stored with the other clinic records. However, we are not required to agree in all circumstances to your requested restrictions, except in the case of a restriction of disclosure to a health plan if the disclosure is for the purpose of carrying out payment or health care operations and is not otherwise required by law; and the protected health information pertains solely to a health care item or service for which you, or the person other than the health plan on your behalf, has paid Women's Care of Wisconsin in full. If you would like to make a request for restrictions, you must submit your request in writing to Women's Care of Wisconsin Attn: Privacy Officer, 3232 N Ballard Rd Suite 100, Appleton WI 54911. A restriction cannot be applied to your health information that has already been disclosed.

Out of Pocket Payments. If you paid out-of-pocket, in full, for a specific item or service, you have the right to request in writing, that your Protected Health Information with respect to that item or service not be disclosed to a health plan for purposes of payment or health care operations.

Receive Confidential Communications of Health Information. You have the right to request that we communicate your health information to you in different ways or places. For example, you may wish to receive information about your health status in a special, private room or through a written letter sent to a private address. We must accommodate reasonable requests. To request confidential communications, you must submit your request in writing to:
Women's Care of Wisconsin
Attn: Privacy Officer
3232 N Ballard Rd Suite 100
Appleton WI 54911

Receive A Record of Disclosures of Your Health Information. You have the right to request a list of the disclosures of your health information that we have made in the past six years, in compliance with federal and state law. This list will include the date of each disclosure, who received the disclosed health information, a brief description of the health information disclosed, and why the disclosure was made. For some types of disclosures, the list will also include the date and time the request for disclosure was received and the date and time the disclosure was made. For example, you may request a list that indicates all the disclosures your health care provider has made from your health care record in the past six months. To request this accounting of disclosures, you must submit your request in writing to Women's Care of Wisconsin Attn: Privacy Officer, 3232 N Ballard Rd Suite 100, Appleton WI 54911. We must comply with your request for a list within 60 days, unless you agree to a 30-day extension, and we may not charge you for the list, unless you request such list more than once per year.

Obtain A Paper Copy of This Notice. Upon your request, you may at any time receive a paper copy of this notice, even if you earlier agreed to receive this notice electronically. To obtain a paper copy of this Notice, send your written request to Women's Care of Wisconsin Attn: Privacy Officer, 3232 N Ballard Rd Suite 100, Appleton WI 54911.

Notified of a Breach. Your provider is required by law to maintain the privacy of protected health information and provide you with notice of its legal duties and privacy practices with respect to protected health information and to notify you following a breach of unsecured protected health information that qualifies under the federal healthcare privacy rules.

Complaint. If you believe your privacy rights have been violated, you may file a complaint with Women's Care of Wisconsin Attn: Privacy Officer, 3232 N Ballard Rd Suite 100, Appleton WI 54911 that will provide you with any needed assistance. We request that you file your complaint in writing so that we may better assist in the investigation of your complaint. You may also file a complaint with the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). If your complaint relates to your privacy rights while you were receiving treatment for mental illness, alcohol or drug abuse or a developmental disability you may also file a complaint with the staff or administrator of the treatment facility or community mental health program. There will be no retaliation against you in any way for filing a complaint.
